

MKTG Pitch

Good Morning, My name is Samantha Lopez, founder of Solo Stream Tech. This company acknowledges all the hardships content creators face in the competitive and growing pool of influencers and streamers. It can be difficult starting up especially with lack of proper equipment and resources. Of course having several cameras set up to where you can edit the different angles once done recording is an option but that would signify purchasing enough cameras to switch these angles, it can be a challenge to purchase all these different cameras for those starting out or that simply prefer a more minimalistic way of living. This advance in technology allows more upcoming creators an expanded amount of liberties with how their content is created as well as diminishing the need for a great number of bulky gear to be hauled and set up each time they're filming. With the challenges of starting up or managing your own content Solo Stream Tech has evolved into a resource that will help aid those tasks. There are two options available for this new tech, gloves that with a seamless point of your finger or a scroll on your thumb you can change, re-focus and edit the angle of your camera. We also offer a remote option, it has the same features but just requires a simple press of a button. Solo Stream is a well developed and structured piece of technology with the goal of aiding modern content creators, whether it's someone recording a vlog, a streamer deep in a game or a makeup tutorial, Solo Stream is here to enhance the experience for both viewer and creator. Solo Stream is available for purchase at www.solostream.com, follow us on social media to see the different ways Solo Stream has been able to create a remarkable environment for all.
